COLUMBIA OFFER A COMEDY RIOT

Over at the Columbia today they are going to screen a picture called "It Happened in Honolulu," and from the accounts of the things that really did happen in the picture, it is little short of a riot laugh that is to be the finish, though it is billed as a dramatic production.

The fun starts when a young American, who is very much in love with a girl whose mother does not want her to marry short of an earl or a count, tries to take her away.

The boy's father is sore at him for not getting into business and he leaves for Honolulu, after taking five thousand out of his father's safe, which the old man told him to take and get out of the country.

A fellow working for the old man, who is stealing, sees the boy take the money belonging to himself and he steals the rest and makes it look as if the younger did the job. Then things begin to happen and they happen as fast as the camera can catch them. They happen in Honolulu, where more things pertaining to love have happened perhaps than any other spot in the world. Honolulu, with its moonlight and its bewitching spots of romantic fancy is the real sure-enough love incubator and here this fast and furious comedy drama takes place.

With it will be shown a Pathe weekly of splendid value, and the ever funny Mutt and Jeff. This time the main of fun makers are joining the Red Cross and they have one awful time to keep things going. The Pathe Weekly News contains the newest hat fashions from Fifth Avenue, New York, and should be a valuable guide to the ladies who have as yet to make up their minds what sort of a hat to get for the fall and winter seasons. This news has many splendid values.

The stellar attraction at the Arizona tonight will be Robert Warwick in "Human Driftwood."

The story of "Human Driftwood" tells in strikingly dramatic form, the story of a man who, after years of drifting, finds himself in a strange land, where he meets a beautiful girl, who is the daughter of a man who has been his enemy for years.

STORY OF FIGHT OF STELLA LANGFORD

Behind closed doors in the juvenile court yesterday Stella Langford, the young girl who suddenly disappeared from the Crittenton Home where she was under detention, her concealment in the city for two days, the purchase of a ticket for her to Los Angeles, the press to her of $100, her journey north to Portland where she was met by Mrs. Bates, wife of Professor Bates, formerly of the faculty of the University of Arizona, and sister of young Boido. The story she told there was the same that she had related while she lay ill at San Jose on her return in the case of Detective Layne, of this city, when she thought she might die of appendicitis.

Layne, who is a young lawyer of Phoenix, was given the case some months ago and was informed that the girl was then at Eugene, Oregon, where Professor and Mrs. Bates live. That was learned through a letter that passed between the lady and the young Boido. By the time the detective arrived in Portland the girl had left the home of the Bates. Layne spent a month trying to locate her and his errand there near the end of the month came to the knowledge of Mrs. Bates, who hurried to the place where the girl was stopping. So nearly was Layne fooled that he found the girl only a couple of hours before the arrival of Mrs. Bates.

On their return to Phoenix the girl was stricken with appendicitis at San Jose, a recurrent attack of chronic appendicitis. The case seemed to have become acute, and her condition was such that it was not thought safe to perform an operation at the end of a week, though she was again able to travel.

The water is as clean and pure as it is possible to have it. In addition to the thorough scrubbing the tank receives every Sunday night the water is now changed three times weekly and thoroughly disinfected by a copper sulphate solution in the proportion of one ounce to every 100 gallons of water. There is also a constant flow of 14,000 gallons of fresh water per hour through the pool, which insures supply of pure, healthful water at all times. In fact "Safety First" from a sanitary point of view has been carried to an extreme at the Riverside Park, and no need fear that old Mr. Mike Rolfe lurks in the depths of this swimming place.

THE TARANTULA IS AT THE LION TODAY

Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno will be seen at the Lion today in the new picture of drama of Cuban life, "The Tarantula." This picture was booked to the Lion about two weeks ago and failed to arrive and the manager who wanted to see it was the announcement of its arrival for today. Most of the scenes in "The Tarantula" are laid in Cuba and in a story in which the "man" plays the role of a Cuban girl, Caronita, Antonio Moreno is the Cuban lover and Edith Storey is the Cuban girl who has been his enemy for years.

The story of "The Tarantula" tells in strikingly dramatic form, the story of a man who, after years of drifting, finds himself in a strange land, where he meets a beautiful girl, who is the daughter of a man who has been his enemy for years.

MAYBE HE WANTED THEM TO MAKE 'IM SOME PRINT PAPER

The county authorities hardly know what to do with Francisco Garcia and his son, A. Garcia, the latter a boy of 14. They could send the elder Garcia to the penitentiary but he would merely eat his head off there. He claims to be the owner of land in Mexico, where his wife and five other children live. He would return there if he had a chance, but for one thing he left there to avoid entering a military life, for his mother did not raise her boy to be a soldier. He turned out to be a thief.

He arrived in this part of the country not long ago and found work in the valley several miles west of the city. Another workman on the job was a man named Chacon, Chacon had amassed a fortune of $90, which he carried with him, and feeling that he was not equal to the custody of so large a sum when he was asleep, he turned over $63 to Garcia for safe keeping. The rest of it he used for a pillow. One night Garcia, excited by the $27 from beneath the head of Chacon and left. He was captured at Maricopa by Deputy Sheriff Harrison Williams. He said that he was on his way to Benson to buy some rags and intended to return and give Chacon back his money. Asked in Justice Wagon's court yesterday what was the probable value of the rags he intended to buy he said $10. In reply to an inquiry by Assistant County Attorney Cunningham whether it seemed good business to expend $27 in railroad fare to purchase $10 worth of rags, Garcia could not see that it was not a good business deal. When he was arrested he had not only the money belonging to Garcia, but $149 besides.

WATTS' FIND GIVES HIM BUT SHORT JOY

It was by an accident that Watts, a citizen of Glendale, was recognized yesterday as the man who had found and cashed a check belonging to a farmer near Glendale by the name of Rogers. Rogers came to town and was given a milk check for $28. Instead of cashing it at once he went to a blacksmith shop to have some work done. While he was there the check fell out of his pocket and when he missed it some minutes later he called up the bank on which it was drawn to stop payment. The bank was closed. He then went to a store to inquire where the officials of the bank lived and related the story of his loss to the proprietor. The latter told him that a man who was leaving the store as he entered had just cashed such a check there and taken $28.00 in part payment.

With a description of him and having learned that he was coming to Phoenix, Rogers found Deputy Sheriff Radd, who hurried to Phoenix and with Deputy George Brannan they set out to find Watts, whom neither of them had ever seen. They learned that he had a sick relative at the Bethany Home and that he intended calling at that institution. But on inquiry at the Home they learned that he had not arrived. They went to the Bethany Home, expecting that he would come on the next Glendale car. There they saw a man sitting on the curb who answered in part the description of Watts. They took him into custody. He admitted his identity, but denied all knowledge of the check. Deputy Sheriff Radd, however, took him back to Glendale, where he was confronted by the merchant who had cashed the check and then he made a full confession.

MARKET NEWS
By R. Allyn Lewis

The market is broadening every minute. With a leader like Steel and a movement based on absolute conditions there is an opportunity for big speculation. Marine stocks have shared with Steel in the days activity. It looks as though the rails were to be sacrificed for the rest of the country. An eight hour day is an equivalent to a 10 or 15 per cent advance in wages. Later on the I. C. C. may decide to help out this much-suffering industry. Until they do it means high operating expenses for all companies and the weaker of the group will have difficulty in making both ends meet. The $25,000,000 gold that has been imported since around the first of May is beginning to work. Easy money, based on gold is always the strongest kind of a tonic to bull speculation which means inflation. Exports are at the top notch. Home business is breaking records. The new English loan will be a pronounced success. Crop conditions are good as well as the labor situation. For the time being it looks like a bull market in which the industrialists will go to the front.
